

When installing a roof mounted satellite, you can find a coiled coax cable inside the roof just opposite the TV antenna location in the roof (between the same two roof trusses).